WOODSEED

P. O. BOX 647 — SALEM, OREGON

November 15, 1950

Dear Inquirer,—

We regret the delay in replying to your query, but the fact is that conifer seed crops were so scanty here in the Pacific Northwest that we could not tell until right now what we would have to sell or how much. Actually, our current offerings are pitifully small.

In the following list we indicate the maximum quantity we can supply to any one customer, and the price. As before, in small assortments we require a minimum of $3.00 order. We pay postage or express anywhere in the U.S.A.

Abies amabilis (silver fir) Oregon Cascades.....	1 oz.	$.50
Abies lasiocarpa (Alpine fir) Oregon Cascades.....	1 oz.	.50
Abies procera (Noble fir) Oregon Cascades.....	1 oz.	.50
Chamaecyparis Lawsoniana (Port Orford Cedar).....	1 oz.	.50	1/2 lb. $3.50	1 lb. $7.00
Picea stitchensis (Sitka spruce) Washington Coast.....	1/2 oz.	.25	1/2 lb. 4.50	1 lb. 8.00
Pinus contorta (Lodgepole pine) High Cascades.....	1/2 oz.	.25	1/2 lb. 4.50	1 lb. 8.00
Pseudotsuga taxifolia (Douglas Fir) Oregon or B.C.....	1 oz.	.50	1/2 lb. 4.00	1 lb. 8.00
Sequoia gigantea (Giant Sequoia) California.....	1/2 oz.	.50	1/2 lb. 5.00
Sequoia sempervirens (Coast Redwood) California.....	1/2 oz.	.50	1/2 lb. 4.00
Tsuga heterophylla (western hemlock) Oregon.....	1/2 oz.	.50

Because our inquiries come from all parts of the United States we will undertake to select seed from sources nearest in climate to that of the locality where the seed is to be planted. We usually stock seed from sources ranging from 30 to 200 days of frost-free period. However, we cannot guarantee that plants will not suffer from frost or other climatic hazards. Exotics are always "chancey."

In reply to questions asked by many of our inquirers would say that we do not grow nursery stock. Our business is collecting and marketing tree seeds.

Yours very truly,

W. B. Woods

Dear friend

I have been thinking of you very much lately and wondering how you are getting on. I hope you are well and happy. I have been very busy lately, but I always find time to think of my friends.

With love,
Alice
